

Caring for our Monarchs

Responsibly

*The Monarch rearing class for Southern Oregon!
Brought to you by:*

The beautiful and iconic monarch butterfly is known and admired throughout the world. However, monarch populations have declined by 90% since the late 1990s. Many people are rallying and helping by providing a safe place for wild monarchs to grow and be re-released into the wild. It is a joy for people of all ages to watch this miraculous progress!

But with it, comes a responsibility...

Do you want to provide a safe place for wild monarch caterpillars to grow and be re-released into the wild? This informative workshop will include:

- * milkweed sources
- * handling caterpillars
- * predators, parasites and disease
- * when to euthanize and how
- * enclosure selection
- * chrysalis issues
- * cleaning vs. sterilizing
- * releasing adults

Guest instructor: Robert Coffan: Southern Oregon Monarch Advocates

Ages: 10-Adult

Tuition: $10

Date: Saturday, March 10

Time: 1:00-3:30pm

Location: Coyote Trails Nature Center DIRECTIONS

2931 S Pacific Hwy, Medford, OR 97501

For more information, and to register, CLICK HERE